BUILDING & CREATING PARKING

With Fluxology, transforming a site into a temporary car park is a real work of innovation. We use cones, ribbons, chains and bollards to create an optimised parking space, with every detail designed to maximise the use of every square metre.

If you consider converting a grass field into a temporary car park, we've got you covered! Using cones, yard tape, yard chain, and bollards, we transform it into the ideal parking space, maximizing every square meter for optimal use.

Road Plates

These are substantial plates strategically positioned on the grass to reinforce and establish a temporary "roadway." When managed by our team, this solution ensures effective communication, particularly in unfavourable weather conditions.
